Major Spaulding's Death.

The death of Major E. J. Spaulding, which occurred on Menday at the Mesa dam on Salt River, is to be deeply regretted for a good man, a thorough and brave officer, has come to his too early grave. While coming down to Phoenix with Capt. Hatfield in a canoe and shooting as they came, they were about to lift their boat over the Mesa dam when the Major attempted to remove his gun from the boat, and in doing so it was discharged, killing him almost instantly.
He was Commandant at Ft. McDowell, Major of the 4th Cavalry and an officer highly esteemed by his superiors and men under him. He leaves a wife to mourn his sad demise. The widow left today with the remains on her sad and lonely journey to his former home, Kalamazoo, Michigan, where they will be interred.

Another Colony.

From Hon. J. S. O'Brien the Star learns that a large colony of young men and women from St. Louis arrived last week and have settled in the Gila valley not far from Aztec station. They came out in a special, and had three passenger coaches, all of which were switched off at Aztec. They have also had shipped to them several carloads of ready made cottage houses, which will be put together this week and a new and enterprising settlement will be fairly inaugurated.
