News and Comment Pertaining to the Territory at Large.

The estate of the late W. O. O'Neill is estimated to be worth $60,000.

Mrs. Margaret Cline, for many years a resident of Tonto, died in Phoenix recently at the advanced age of 84 years.

The Bulletin states that the Interior department has added $1000 worth of horses and mules to the stock at San Carlos.

Jan. E. Sturgeon has returned to Tempe from an extended business trip through the middle western states. He reports crops good.

Miss Anna B. Gould teacher in the Indian school at San Carlos has gone to her old home in Milwaukee, Wis., to spend the summer vacation.

A cyanide plant (MacArthur-Forrest process) has been put in operation at the King of Arizona mill at Mohawk. It is giving satisfactory results.

The Arizona Timber and Lumber Co's blacksmith shop went up in smoke last week at Flagstaff. Loss $7,000 including hardwood lumber stored in the building.

The prize for the best decorated house in Tucson, on the Fourth, was awarded to Hon. Wm. Griffith, United States Marshal, on his residence, which was beautifully decorated.

Miss Mamie Donohue, head waitress at the Grand View, will go with Governor McCord's regiment as a mascot. The boys won't have the blues if Mamie is along.—Jerome Reporter.

Saturday last the encoeur press of the territory, representing the immigration commission and properly called McCord's reconcentrados, were in session. They decided to print 1000 extras of the governor's report to the secretary of the interior.—Enterprise.

There is talk among the friends and admirers of the late Captain O'Neill, of erecting a monument to his memory in Prescott. Certainly no one is more deserving of such honor than our late mayor and most distinguished fellow citizen and gallant soldier.—Courier.

The Phoenix Republican says news has been received that in the case of Capt. J. H. McClintock, of the Rough Riders, who was wounded in the fight at La Quijana, amputation of the leg had been necessary, and it is doubtful if he will survive the operation.

Although every industry in Graham county has made rapid strides to the front during the past year, still the assessment roll is returned to the Board of Equalization $30,000 less than in 1897. It is only another argument showing that Graham county is not properly assessed, and never will be, as long as the present law, making the sheriff ex-officio assessor, remains on our statute.—Bulletin.

The government is reducing the customs force in all the customs districts; in El Paso district they have cut the expenses $11,000 per annum by reducing the number of employees; in this district a reduction of $3,000 has been made by abolishing the positions held by R. H. Reynolds, J. H. Kellner and W. J. Osborn; each man named thus relieved is placed on the list of eligibles where he remains for one year unless he is sooner reappointed.—Gazette.

The annual readjustment of presidential postmasters' salaries for the next fiscal year has been made public by the postoffice department. The following are the changes in Arizona Increase, Bisbee, $1,500; Flagstaff, $1,400; Jerome, $1,300; $1,400; Nogales, $1,200; $1,400; Tempe, $1,100; $1,200; Williams, $1,100; $1,200; Yuma, $1,300, $1,400. Decreases—Globe, $1,400, $1,300.

The rain which fell in this valley has injured the crops, especially the wheat to an alarming extent. The damage will run up into thousands of dollars. In some places the wheat had been cut and was still on the ground which was almost entirely ruined. The San Simon as usual carried devastation in its course to the river. The water backed up in the Montezuma canal in the vicinity of Solomonville and the fields on the north side were flooded.—Graham Co. Bulletin.

The Republican says: The most exciting spot in Phoenix on the Fourth was the ally in the rear of the Anheuser saloon, where all the fighting men of the city congregated and had it out. The greatest conflict of the day occurred between a cow-puncher named Riley, better known as "One Eyed Riley," and all the living members of the Cline family. The rain which fell in this valley has injured the crops, especially the wheat to an alarming extent. The damage will run up into thousands of dollars. In some places the wheat had been cut and was still on the ground which was almost entirely ruined. The San Simon as usual carried devastation in its course to the river. The water backed up in the Montezuma canal in the vicinity of Solomonville and the fields on the north side were flooded.—Graham Co. Bulletin.

The Republican says: The most exciting spot in Phoenix on the Fourth was the ally in the rear of the Anheuser saloon, where all the fighting men of the city congregated and had it out. The greatest conflict of the day occurred between a cow-puncher named Riley, better known as "One Eyed Riley," and all the living members of the Cline family.
