ZOOM VERSION

The bull-head is made of timber, dirt and stone. The timber is carried from the road that runs to the river, just above the tunnel to the tunnel's mouth by means of a raft. Tuesday, three of the carpenters including the government's head carpenter, George Gronewald, were guiding the raft loaded with lumber down stream to the tunnel. The raft got out too far in the stream and the current being strong, the men lost control. Two of them jumped off and swam to shore. Gronewald, in hopes of saving the raft, stayed on until it was too late to save himself, going over the dam. The lower part of the dam, over which the water is diverted from the tunnel is very narrow, causing a swift current. As the raft passed under the bridge suspended from the west side to the higher portion of the land, a rope was thrown to him, but he seemed unable to grasp the situation and save himself. Some believe he was stunned by being struck by stones going over the coffer dam. The raft struck the stones at the back of the dam and Gronewald was not seen afterward. Many thought the raft to be in the eddy just below the dam. Although a great deal of dynamite has been used they were unable to raise the body. It is now the supposition that unless the body be caught under a ledge of stone, it has drifted down stream. Mrs. Gronewald was told of the accident, but for several hours refused to believe her husband would not return. She has the sympathy of all on the work. It is probable that she and the baby will go to Phoenix immediately.

GROWING STRUCTURE OF ROOSEVELT DAM

The Damage by the Late Flood Hardly Caused the Slightest Delay.

Roosevelt Ariz., Feb. 17.—(Special correspondence of The Republican.)—Work on the dam has not been delayed in spite of the fact that two of the derricks were carried away by the recent flood. One stiff-leg derrick and one eighty-foot derrick are being used to lay stone. The two derricks carried down stream by the flood will be rebuilt this week. The masonry work is being carried on toward the center of the dam. It is likely that the derrick will be moved this week to the back of the dam and work will begin on the down-stream face.

The upper part of the sluicing tunnel is already closed and a bull-head is being constructed at the bottom of the dam to back the water from below. The top of the tunnel is now open and the workmen putting in the gates will work from the inside.

The bull-head is made of timber, dirt and stone. The timber is carried from the road that runs to the river, just above the tunnel to the tunnel's mouth by means of a raft. Tuesday, three of the carpenters including the government's head carpenter, George Gronewald, were guiding the raft loaded with lumber down stream to the tunnel. The raft got out too far in the stream and the current being strong, the men lost control. Two of them jumped off and swam to shore. Gronewald, in hopes of saving the raft, stayed on until it was too late to save himself, going over the dam. The lower part of the dam, over which the water is diverted from the tunnel is very narrow, causing a swift current. As the raft passed under the bridge suspended from the west side to the higher portion of the dam, a rope was thrown to him, but he seemed unable to grasp the situation and save himself. Some believe he was stunned by being struck by stones going over the dam. The raft struck the stones at the back of the dam and Gronewald was not seen afterward. Many thought the raft to be in the eddy just below the dam. Although a great deal of dynamite has been used they were unable to raise the body. It is now the supposition that unless the body be caught under a ledge of stone, it has drifted down stream.

Mrs. Gronewald was told of the accident, but for several hours refused to believe her husband would not return. She has the sympathy of all on the work. It is probable that she and the baby will go to Phoenix immediately.

W. D. Smith of the S. Morgan Smith Iron Works, arrived in Roosevelt Saturday evening to ascertain the difficulty in the working of the water-wheel in the power house. The machine was purchased from this firm. The wheel has proved too small for the force of the water and is worn away by the sand. To remedy these defects is the purpose of Mr. Smith's visit.

The U. S. R. S. engineers' convention at Yuma brought several to Roosevelt to look over the work here. The party came up in two autos arriving early Tuesday. Those who made up the party were Louis C. Hill, Phoenix; A. P. Davis, Washington, D. C.; J. L. Lytel, Provo, Utah; W. D. Buis, Provo, Utah; C. E. Hogle, Deerfield, Kansas; E. E. Sand, Grandt, Alabama; and J. Blanchard of Washington D. C. The weather was rather damp for an outing, but the work proved interesting. One part of the work which the engineers were especially anxious to see, was the big pressure pipe across Cottonwood Canyon. This is the largest pressure pipe in use and is used to force the water in the canal over the hill at the top of the canyon.

Work on the transformer house will begin today. The power house is rapidly nearing completion. Another camp is to be established on the transmission line with a crew of fifty men. One crew will work on the desert portion and one on the mountain section. It will take considerable labor to stretch the heavy copper wires over the towers through the broken country. The line goes through one district near Fish Creek known by the cowboys as "The Devil's Hip Pocket." Here, only a rough trail can be made to carry material by burro. The right of way for the line now parallels the railroad from Mesa to Tempe. This would be highly satisfactory to the railroad company in case they wished to put in an electric line, but to those interested in the construction this route is not approved, as it is believed the smoke from the trains will injure the wire and necessitate the cleaning of the wire frequently.

A crew of fifty men are at work on the grading for the electric line to the day pit. A jolly party composed of Walter Lubken, Paul Pritchlyn, R. M. Peabody, Carl Weitz and Otis McIntyre started for the government farm, twelve miles up Salt River, on Saturday evening, to enjoy a duck hunt on Sunday. Territorial Ranger Holmes did a good piece of detective work last week. A purse and diamond ring were stolen from a tent at Camp O'Rourke and hidden under a stone a mile up Tonto. The theft was committed by a young boy. Ranger Holmes induced the boy to confess and the property was easily recovered. This being a first offense the boy was let off on good behavior.

Tuesday night a catastrophe happened to Mr. John Beiser, owner and manager of the Roosevelt Meat and Cold Storage Company. Mr. Beiser enjoyed a Dutch lunch and retired for the night. Of course his dreams were disturbed, and just at this point the unexpected occurred. The walls of the cold storage, constructed of adobe, caved in, a result of the recent rains, and Mr. Beiser endeavored to rise, believing the world was really coming to an end at last. Judge Evans ran to his rescue and dragged the victim from the pile of adobe bricks. Mr. Beiser now contemplates building a Noah's Ark with a firm foundation.

A House Divided Against Itself

Civil War in the Stomach Spells Ruin. Victory Belongs to You, if You Will. Costs Nothing to Try. The greatest foe to the progress of nations has been internal strife, civil war. Equally so is the greatest enemy of health in the human system civil war between the different parts of the body. This is just what occurs in dyspepsia. War is declared between the stomach and the rest of the members of the body—illness results, inability to digest or assimilate food, and in a word, all the attendant evils of imperfect digestion. What you need is an ally. An ally who will not only help but will absolutely insure you the victory. In other words, let Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets fight your battles for you, and by doing the work of your stomach, give it a complete rest, and allow it to re-enter the lists reinforced, refreshed, and rejuvenated. A single one of these marvelous tablets will digest 2,000 grains of food. Leading physicians all over the world have endorsed Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets, and have certified them free from harmful drugs. Simple to take. Harmless, efficacious. No doctor's bills. Only 5c. At all druggists, or write to us direct. Free sample sent on application. F. A. Stuart Co., 150 Stuart Building, Marshall, Mich.

MILD INTEREST FELT IN PHOENIX BOND BILL

The Lodge of Eagles Inquiring of Delegate Smith What Has Become of It.

Considering the importance of the measure, little interest is apparent in the bill now before congress to permit Phoenix to issue bonds for taking up its outstanding warrants amounting to about $150,000. It will probably seem to outsiders that this town has more money than it needs already.

At the same time many holders of these warrants, who bought them for the high rate of interest they bore would like to get their money. Many of the holders are persons who did not have a great deal of money in the first place but took the warrants because they were a good investment and with the understanding that they could realize upon them at any time if the need should arise.

Among the holders is the lodge of Eagles which began buying them in more than two years ago until now the lodge has in its safe deposit box about $2,000 of the floating indebtedness. The lodge has frequently needed money within the last year for the burial of its dead and for aiding members, to say nothing of providing for entertainments which are a part of the life of fraternal organizations.

At the last meeting of the lodge the subject of the warrants was called up and a resolution was adopted instructing the secretary to write to Delegate Smith and inquire as to the status of the bill. It is not surmised that any obstacle will be presented to its passage and it is thought that all that will be required will be to keep the matter before the house.

SENSIBLE HOBBY.

Well-Known People Devote Spare Time to Uplifting Health.

There is no excuse today for any person, unless tainted with an incurable disease, remaining sickly, with the great advance in medical discoveries and the growing popularity of physical culture.

In the diseases of digestion and nutrition for example, an acknowledged specific treatment has been found in Mi-o-na. It is relied upon as a certainty in relieving the worst troubles of digestion and assimilation and making a complete cure.

People suffering with headaches, palpitation, sleeplessness, bad taste in the mouth, coated tongue, distress after eating, specks before the eyes, nervousness and general debility, and any other of the many distressing results of a weakened stomach, should profit by the discovery of Mi-o-na stomach tablets.

Larson Drug company have seen so many cures by Mi-o-na of stomach and general run-down state of health that they are firm believers in the power of this remedy to cure practically every case, and they show this faith by giving a guarantee with every 24-cent box of Mi-o-na to refund the money unless it does all that is claimed for it. They take the whole risk, and Mi-o-na will not cost you a penny addition to cure.

THE MINERAL RICHNESS OF BILL WILLIAMS RANGE

An Investigation of That Region From a Railroad Point of View.

Messrs. W. A. Drake, Paul Hastings and F. P. Crules of the S. F. P. & P. Orleans Longacre, Jr. general manager of the Poland Mining company, the Yavapai Consolidated and the Lookout Mining company, and William Baum of Los Angeles, connected with the industrial department of the Santa Fe, arrived in town yesterday afternoon from an important mining trip along the Bill Williams range, extending back from the Colorado along the A. & C. north of the railroad line, ranging in distance from it from fifteen to thirty miles.

The importance of the journey lies in the fact that it is the most thorough investigation of that country from a railroad point of view ever made and in the event of a sufficient development of the country to warrant it may result in the building of a line into it.

Nearly every mine, claim and prospect hole in that vast region was visited. The party carried its own camp outfit. Camps were established at various points and from them trips were made to the surrounding country. The camp of Mr. E. S. Osborne who represents a company owning about a hundred claims in that region was turned over to the visitors. Speaking of the country, Mr. Drake said last night that it is to be regretted that so little has been heard of it. It is exceedingly rich in mineral, copper predominating, though there is some gold. It is bound, Mr. Drake believes, to be one of the great mineral producing regions of the territory. There is very little doing there now, though the Planet people, the Signal company and Mr. Osborne are at work. It was formerly a rather busy place in the early days when the ore was shipped down the Colorado to the gulf where it was trans-shipped to larger craft and carried to Swansea, Wales.

Mr. Drake said he was surprised to find samples of very rich gold ore at House. There might not have been great deposits of it where this was found in the Phoenix range but it would not require a great deal of it to go a long way. He saw an assayer's certificate of some of it which went over $52,000 to the ton.

Speaking of gold ore, Mr. Longacre reported the finding of some in the Poland recently that went thirty-three ounces to the ton.

The party left Prescott this morning.

TEACHING OF MUSIC IN THE SCHOOLS

Demonstration Before the Woman's Club Yesterday by Miss Holt and About Fifty Children.

The open meeting of the Woman's club in the Presbyterian church yesterday afternoon was a decidedly interesting one and was attended by many beside the club members. The chief feature of the afternoon was the demonstration given by Miss Holt of the good results to be secured by the teaching of music in the public schools. This was by Miss Holt, who has charge of that work in the Phoenix city schools, though the program of the day was under the auspices of the civics education department of the club.

After speaking of her work and what could be accomplished by the teaching of music to school children Miss Holt proceeded with demonstrations in all the grades of the city schools from the first to the seventh both inclusive. There were probably fifty children present altogether. The first grade pupils are taught by notes and intervals and then taught to sing by ear after receiving the key. The second grade is much the same though a little more advanced. With the third grade the books are introduced as well as blackboard exercises and the children are taught to read the notes and find the key notes. A still further advance is made by the fourth grade pupils and the chromatic scale is introduced in the fifth grade and the minor scale in the seventh grade. In the higher grades it is wonderful what a knowledge they have acquired. It would seem that with the advanced methods of teaching now employed every child should have at least a theoretical knowledge of music these days.

The demonstrations by the higher grades included the singing of trios and quartets, in a very pleasing way. One novelty of the day which was also made clear was the reference to a "monotone" class. This means the children who simply have no ear for music at all. Even they may be taught the theory of it to some extent, how to read the notes etc but it is recognized that they can never learn to sing enough to be more than a nuisance to everybody who hears them. This is not a large class to be sure for most children have some musical talent if any effort is made to develop it, but occasionally a child is found to whom all sounds are very much alike, or at least they possess for these children, no special harmonies however they may be blended.
