SWIMMING A COMING PASTIME IN TEMPE

Clear, Flowing Waters of Salt River Are Attracting Many to Its Banks Every Evening

Were the question to be asked of a Tempe resident on most any day this kind of weather, which is the most popular amusement resort in Tempe this evening? Almost certain would come the answer, "The awimming hole in Sait River, just north of the buttes." Rapidly is this spot gaining prominence as the weather seemingly grows warmer and the folks of the town begin to seek a place where they may cool off for at least an hour or two out of the twenty-four.

Nearly any time during the day, bathers may be found enjoying the refreshing waters of the Salt within the vicinity of Tempe, either at the Point of Rocks, just north of the larger butte or at the ripples to the rear of the little butte. But the real time of day for swimming is in the evening according to the many who seldom pass a day without enjoying a short time in the waters of the Salt.

As high as fifty have been seen in the river at one time on an evening already this year. And from day to day the increasing presence of bathers at the Rapids is easily noticable. The good word has been passed along and is being passed along, until swimming is going to become the one popular pastime with Tempe folks not many days hence.

Certain additions might be made along the water edge that would add materially to the pleasure of visiting the river evenings. Dressing rooms of some sort or anothe: would be the big item. But even leave the river as it is now, and it will soon gain such popularity that local residents will flock to its banks of an evening in ever-increasing numbers. They'll enjoy the refreshing waters mightily too.

Mr. Scott has proposed that the town invest in fifty or a hundred young sheep and a few rolls of chicken wire netting and put the sheep to work on the Johnson grass growing along the laterals. He has it figured out that the gain in the weight of the sheep will pay their original cost as well as their keep. There are two reasons for get ting young sheep, one is that they can with little or no trouble and another short time in the waters of the is that they will be less afraid of fogs. They will feed much better and will chop the grass and weeds much closer. one popular pastime with Tempe made the suggestion on his plan of keeping the weeds down the idea has certain additions might be made met with general approval and without a doubt it with be various and only it with be really a doubt it with be really a doubt it with be really and only it with be really a doubt it with be really and only it with the really and only it will be really and only it w enjoy the refreshing waters mightily lowed and preachers have mentioned the matter from their pulpits but notwithstanding the general opposition, the weeds have continued to grow It Just at this time of the year the has remained for Mr. Scott to emerge
