BIG FISH.

Charley and Byron Ellsworth today captured three fine salmon in the canal at the division gates on the Chandler ranch. The largest weighed ten pounds and the others a couple of pounds each less. The fish were sold to the Henry Davis meat market. The idea that there is water enough for big fish in Arizona is hard to make strangers believe, but it is a fact that there are many fish in the Salt river—salmon, cat and carp.

ZOOM VERSION

The objective of the party is White River Indian Reservation and the White mountains. Permission has been secured from the Indian agent to fish on the reservation and the party is going prepared to catch everything in sight. The members of the party expect to spend almost the entire summer in that vicinity.

BABY'S VOICE

Is the joy of the household, for without it no happiness can be complete. How sweet the picture of mother and babe, angels smile at and commend the thoughts and aspirations of the mother leading over the cradle. The ordeal through which the expectant mother must pass, however, is so full of danger and suffering that she looks forward to the hour when she shall feel the exquisite thrill of motherhood with indescribable dread and fear. Every woman should know that the danger, pain and horror of child-birth can be entirely avoided by the use of Mother's Friend, a scientific liniment for external use only, which toughens and renders pliable all the parts, and assists nature in its sublime work. By its aid thousands of women have passed this great crisis in perfect safety and without pain. Sold at $2.00 per bottle by druggists. Our book of priceless value to all women sent free. A RECENT WEDDING.

There was a wedding in Phoenix last Friday of interest to Tempe people which was unfortunately overlooked until yesterday. The contracting parties were Willie Hyde of this place and Miss Mamie Cannon of Yavapai county, though she has been spending the greater part of the past year near Tempe. The ceremony was performed by Probate Judge Phillips and the young couple are at present spending the greater part of the year near Tempe. Mr. Hyde has about concluded to settle down on a ranch near Tempe and make this place the future home of himself and wife.

Buy Hyde's up-to-date trousers.

OFF FOR THE HILLS.

Tempe is fast becoming depopulated, hence a day passes now but that were one or in some cases a number leave for cooler parts. Quite a party left yesterday afternoon on overland. It was composed of C. M. Mullen and family, Grant Jones and family, Miss Frankenberg and Miss Ruth McComas.

It town and that of the H. Y. Ryder company has a standing reputation in Tempe. A record of 124 degrees was recorded there yesterday and while it was not quite that warm at the Billm yard, Mr. Dickinson, after consulting the thermometer said that he found it a degree hotter than he had ever seen it there before. Regardless of the heat, though, Tempe presented a lively aspect all day. Preparations for the big time tomorrow continue and no one seems to particularly mind the weather.

Going to town now and not stopping in at Hyde's is just like going to Europe and not stopping at Cohen's.

Try an electrical massage at Cohen's barber shop, Casa Loma block.

A TEN POUND BOY. T. J. Parry yesterday became the father of a ten pound boy. The youngster is particularly ambitious and Mr. Parry says it was all he could do to keep him from helping in the shop. He finally prevailed upon the boy to wait at least until cooler weather. Mother and child are both doing well regardless of the heat.

Make Hyde's store your Fourth of July headquarters.

AN EMERGENCY CALL. Dr. Brechan yesterday responded to an emergency call, the subject being Mrs. I. Ruderman who suffered a rupture of one of the blood vessels of a lower limb. She was in a critical stage for a short time but prompt attendance soon placed her out of danger.

Read Hyde's ad today and every day.

LEFT FOR HOME. Miss Emma Chipman who for the past nine months, has held the position of stenographer with the Farmers' and Merchants' bank, left yesterday for her home in Omaha, Neb. It is her first visit home in nearly two years and she expects to spend the summer there, though it is her intention to return west in the fall.

Remember the 4th is the day to get your picture cheap at Tempe Gallery.

ODDS AND ENDS. The Misses Mae E. Evine and Frances McNulty and the Misses Mary and Leona Hault left last evening for Los Angeles where they will spend the summer.

Miss Maude Armstrong and Mrs. Carr left yesterday on the Santa Fe for California, the former to spend a month or six weeks at Long Beach and the latter the rest of the summer in Los Angeles.

Prof. R. H. Forbes of Tucson is a visitor here for a few days.

Mrs. W. T. Cummings and Miss Lizale Comer left on the M. & P. last evening for California. Mrs. Cummings will stop with their daughter at Long Beach and Miss Comer with her sister, Mrs. T. R. Jones in Pasadena.

Prof. F. C. Ayer left last evening for Globe where he will pitch for the Phoenix team in the baseball tournament there. From Globe he will go on to Chicago and the rest of the summer will be spent in eastern cities. He expects to return in the early part of September.

Prof. J. L. Johnstone was another Tempe resident who left for Los Angeles last evening. He goes for the combined purpose of resting and participating in the musical program of the N. F. A. meeting.

While practicing with the fire department on the street night before last Abe Lukin lost a Waterman fountain pen, for the return of which he will pay a reward.

Supr. L. D. Crook has a force of men at work cleaning the various branches of the Tempe canal. The work has now progressed as far as section two of the western branch.

On the 4th the Tempe Gallery will make photos at reduced prices.

FOURTH OF JULY SHIPMENTS. The various celebrations in different parts of the territory has called upon Tempe for an extra amount of produce. C. W. Alexander, proprietor of the Cala Dale poultry farm last evening shipped to different points seven crates of chickens and three cases of eggs.

Celebrate the 4th by getting your picture taken at Tempe Gallery.

Tempe Gallery open all day the 4th. Electrical massage at Cohen's shop.

MESA

TO HELP WITH CANTALOUPE. Allen and E. E. Hooken, from Coahuila, California, A. Osborn, E. S. Fear and A. J. Horsin, from Rockford, Colorado, are here to help in the shipment of cantaloupes from Mesa. They are expert inspectors and will inspect every crate sent to H. Woods, the distributor, who employs them. By the way, the Mesa Melon Growers' association expect to ship to Chicago this season, at least 250 carloads of cants.

GRAIN BURNED.

Evan Prethero, living near Lohi, about five miles from Mesa, lost sixteen acres of grain Monday evening. The grain had been cut and stacked up. Just how the fire started is unknown. Mr. Prethero was extracting honey about half a mile away, when he noticed that the stubble was on fire. He hurried to the scene of the fire as fast as he could and gave the alarm, but before he could do anything to check it the flames had reached the stacks and they were consumed. The fire spread rapidly, and many came to the assistance of Mr. Prethero. By hard work they succeeded in getting the fire checked just before it reached the field of James Johnson, a neighbor.

James Daley and the other members of the Mesa Amusement club baseball team left Monday evening and yesterday noon for Prescott to play the Diamond Joe. Daley and the greater number of the team went by the Santa Fe on the early morning train yesterday from Phoenix, and Empire Stapley and Capt. Bert Hensaker left yesterday afternoon. The boys are confident of winning the purse in the series of three games to be played at Prescott.

THEY'RE HONEST IN ARIZONA.

The following is from a Kansas City paper of recent date: Sidney Scott, a cattleman from Mesa, Arizona, has been a guest at the Coats house for three days. During his stay there he left the key to his room hanging in the door on the outside night and day and didn't lock the door once. He left his purse lying on the table in the room yesterday morning. The maid found it and gave it to the clerk. When Mr. Scott returned to the hotel in the evening George Mong, chief clerk at the hotel, gave him the purse and told him he would better either keep his valuables in his pocket or lock the room door.

"That's a peculiar thing," Scott said. "Down in Arizona we never think about having locks for anything except bank vaults and business houses. I never think about locking my house when I go away for a few days. Some fellow down there might rob a bank of a few thousand at the point of a gun, but I never heard of anybody down there walking into a man's room and taking his purse or his clothes."

SURPRISE PARTY.

A party of young people gave Miss Henrietta Irwin a surprise party last night at the residence of the Free Press editor. The young people gathered at the Methodist parsonage and from there went in a body to Miss Irwin's home, taking that lady completely by surprise.

During the afternoon, while the lady was at the office, the trees on the lawn had been strung with wires and when the guests arrive Chinese lanterns were hung and the candles lighted. Seats and tables were placed outside and the young people spent about three hours in playing games and getting better acquainted.

Some of the ladies had an abundance of cake with them, and ice cream and cake were served. It was midnight when the guests left for their homes. The following were present: Misses Ada and Zoe Tway, Hester and Sarah Wallace, Lelan Welchons, Gladys Robinson, Anna Hall, Nellie Duncan, Hazel Mumford, Katie Schaefer, Mrs. Rich, Rev. J. A. and Mrs. Crouch and Master Paul, Messrs. George Rindell, Everett Wilbur, Dan Carr, Walter Lukin, Otis Norton, Vincent Jones, James Wallace, M. P. Holladay, Ed Tway and E. C. Cannon.

SURVEY PARTY HERE.

Engineer L. C. Hill and Kenneth Schooley with their wives came down from Roosevelt last evening. Mr. Schooley will remain in this section in charge of a party of surveyors to look after some work for the reclamation service.

Tonight is the regular monthly meeting night of the town council. John Miller, government photographer for the reclamation service, is down from Roosevelt.

Engineer Schooley and a party of surveyors are here to do some work in connection with the reclamation and Indian service. The running of a power line to Sacaton is understood to be part of the work.

STUDIES IN NATURE RATTLESNAKE LORE

E. E. Kirkland Explains Why Some People Don't Do What They Think They Do. When They Know They Ought to.

Territorial Treasurer E. E. Kirkland, who first was a game for himself as a horny handed rancher and cow man up in Kirkland valley, still keeps his mountain home as a good place to fall back on when he becomes old and decrepit, tearing coupons off the territorial bonds, and goes up there occasionally to keep in touch with local affairs. He went up last Saturday and spent Sunday with the boys on the ranch, coming home with a hand badly lacerated, which he said was the result of a rattlesnake bite inflicted by proxy, and it looked the part.

Mr. Kirkland has a barn on the ranch which has been there for a great many years and which is used mainly for the accommodation of the cow ponies and the rattlesnakes on the home place who seek its shelter in the winter time from the cold and in the summer time from the heat. Mr. Kirkland's usual custom when he goes to the ranch is to pick up a club, step inside the barn and kill a snake and then go around and greet the ponies, calling them by name and patting their heads. He did as usual last Saturday except that when he went into the barn he saw no snake and was somewhat disappointed. He began to fear that the boys on the ranch were becoming inhospitable or that his reptile friends had succumbed to race suicide, but he went the rounds as usual and was preparing to leave the barn when he spied a little boy's saddle on a nail and decided to bring it to Phoenix and make some lad a present of it.

As he approached the saddle and reached up to hear the old familiar greeting of a husky rattler at his feet and came to a sudden stop, with a cold chill running up and down a spinal column that connected his main system with a brow showing a fever heat of 150 degrees. He soon came out of his trance, got a piece of board outside and after a quite strenuous combat dispatched the snake, but the ragged edge of the board left wounds on his hand very like the effect of a serpent's fangs.

The most interesting part of the incident is the observation of Mr. Kirkland concerning the suddenness with which he halted when he heard the snake rattle. This is enlarged upon for the benefit of those who are following the nature studies of certain great men of the day, the subject in this instance being the human animal. Mr. Kirkland says it is a common thing to hear people tell about making a sudden jump as soon as they hear a snake rattle, when the fact is that the first thing a person does on hearing a rattler is to come to a sudden stop, look around a moment, enjoy a mass meeting of variegated pains and cold chills, size up the situation and then jump. Of course this pause is not necessarily lengthened into a state of oblivious forgetfulness, nevertheless it is more pronounced than one would suppose unless he were in the habit of intimate association with rattlesnakes as Mr. Kirkland is, and had learned to study himself under such circumstances.

The explanation, says Mr. Kirkland, is found in two or three facts. First is surprise, but it only takes an instant for one to realize that it is a rattler whether he ever saw one before or not. Mother Nature somehow gave a white man an instinct for recognizing and understanding the remarks of a rattler, without needing a repetition. The next thought is what to do and one is just as careful about jumping into danger as he is to jump away from it, so he seldom moves until he gets his eye on the reptile. But the way one does jump after these preliminaries are attended to is nothing less than marvelous. Another thing that people should know is that rattlesnakes do not always rattle for sometimes their music boxes are accidentally torn off and they can't. Mr. Kirkland therefore suggests that no careful person should permit a snake to bite him in the belief that it is harmless, merely because he did not rattle and if a snake with rattles should bite a person without warning, it is a sign that he is not a good rattlesnake and should be avoided.

These remarks are offered by Mr. Kirkland in the interest of science but of course they don't have to be accepted by those who prefer to investigate for themselves. If anybody disagrees with him, especially concerning the pause after the warning, now is a good time to experiment for the 1907 crop of rattles is at its best. Novices though are advised not to wait too long after the snake rattles. Mr. Kirkland knows a great many other things about rattlesnakes and sidewinders and has had a wide experience in not being bitten with them but this will be enough for the first lesson.

There seems to be more charitable-ness connected with the brotherhood of man than there is with the sisterhood of woman.—Chicago News.
