HAD TWO WARNINGS

Then John Tilzer, the Islander, Was Drowned

His Wife and Little Daughter Rescued Last Night From the Angry Waters of Salt River.

John Tilzer, who lived with his family on an island in the river at the foot of Seventh street was drowned yesterday afternoon while trying to rescue his wife and little daughter. He had already brought his four boys to the bank and was returning after his wife when his boat struck a barbed wire fence. It was instantly overturned. His wife caught a glimpse of him as he was hurled downstream and he was seen no more. Mrs. Tilzer was taken from the island last night by a force sent from the sheriff's office.

This is the third time the Tilzer family has been removed from the island and on the other two occasions Tilzer was taken away against his will. So for him the third time was the charm and his wife swears that she will never again trust that dangerous habitation. It is doubtful though if there will be anything left of it for when the boat containing Mrs. Tilzer and her rescuers pushed off last night the waves were breaking over the summit of it.

The river rose so rapidly that little thought was given to the Tilzers until word was brought to town that the husband had been drowned. Steps were at once taken to rescue his wife. Deputy Sheriff Wayne Davis started out to find a man who could row a boat under great difficulties. He approached a crowd on the street and asked if anyone knew where he could find a boatman. A man by the name of C. L. Shrum of Buckeye, who had just arrived in the city from the hills came forward and offered his services. A team was sent to Eastlake park after the boat there and it was taken to the river by Deputy Sheriff Davis, Mr. Shrum and Charlie Shankard. It was beginning to grow dark and what was to be done must be done quickly. Mrs. Tilzer was standing on the island with the waves breaking at her feet. Near her was a horse standing in water to his knees. The current between the island and the bank was about 200 yards wide and on the side next the island was running very swiftly. Shrum estimating its velocity had the boat carried 200 yards up stream and accompanied by the

Mrs. Tilzer was standing on the land with the waves breaking at her feet. Near her was a horse standing in water to his knees. The current between the island and the bank was about 200 yards wide and on the side next the island was running very swiftly. Shrum estimating its velocity had the boat carried 200 yards up stream and accompanied by the deputy sheriff pushed out. The deputy had had no experience in the handling of the boat and midway while trying to steer it throw it squarely across the current so that it dipped water and was on the point of going over. Shrum quickly brought it about and a few minutes later it was driven against the island directly in the current. The deputy jumped out into the water and dragged the boat up.

The woman and the little girl were put into it and Shrum selected in the growing darkness a point on the bank about 150 yards below where he wanted to land. He did it with almost mathematical accuracy. Mrs. Tilzer did not seem to be greatly alarmed.
She appeared to be dazed by the loss of her husband and thought of nothing also.

The rescuers looked back to see what had become of the horse but in the darkness he was not visible. Mrs.
Tilzer said that shortly before the arrival of the boat she had untied him and loosened several calves and a goat. It was not thought that a thing would be left on the island two hours later for between the time the boat set out on its mission of rescue and the time of its return the water had risen a foot.

The stricken Tilzer family was taken to the office of the sheriff. Nothing had been saved. There was not even a pair of shoes among the widow and children. They were provided with shoes and clothing and taken to the Valley lodging house for the night.

Shrum, speaking of the incident last night said that he would not undertake another trip like that for $500, though he might do so if human life were at stake. He said he did not fully realize the perilous character of it until the boat was well on the way across. He saw no sign of the barbed wire fence which had overturned Tilzer's boat for if it had not been washed away it had been covered deep by the rapidly rising water.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer one hundred dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.
