Dear Joy:

Here is a link to the Kolb image of interest in our digital archives:

<http://archive.library.nau.edu/cdm/singleitem/collection/cpa/id/71551/rec/1>

You are welcome to copy the image (with full credit to the NAU Cline Library Kolb Collection) or print the image available online at no cost. The image is a 150 dpi file. If you prefer the high resolution version (300 dpi), we will need to charge our standard reproduction fee of $30.00. Jess Vogelsang (copied above—928-523-9149) can assist you if you would like to order the 300 dpi version.

Cheers,
Karen

Sean: Thanks again for all your help last week at the archives. I wish we'd been able to spend more time looking through your collection. I was looking through a book and came across a photo I'd like a copy of. I believe it comes from NAU's collection. Would it be possible to scan and email it to me? The photo is NAU.PH.568-966 and shows Dave Rust and Ellsworth and Emery Kolb near the mouth of Bright Angel Creek in what the book describes as a canvas rowboat but what I believe to be a canvas canoe (with a row rig). The photo shows 4 men in the boat and one man standing thigh-deep in the river.

Thanks!
Joy
